

Jefferson City, Mo., May 25.—Judge Robert A. Anthony, appointed by the supreme court of Missouri to take testimony in the suit instituted by Attorney General Hadley against the Standard Oil company, the Waters-Pierce Oil company and The Republic Oil company, charging a conspiracy, made his report to the court. His findings hold that the Standard Waters-Pierce and Republic Oil companies entered into an agreement to control prices of oil. He recommended that their charters be revoked and that they be ousted from the state. In his report he holds that the supreme court has the authority to make the ruling of ouster.

SOCIETY

A very pleasant surprise was given Friday evening in honor of Miss Virginia Shannon at her home in Tenth street. Games were the amusement of the evening, after which light refreshments were served to about twenty guests.

Monday, May 20th, was for the Rev. and Mrs. M. Schleifer the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. They celebrated the occasion with a family dinner at their home on Ferry street. Among the guests were Rev. Theo. Beckmeyer and Rev. and Mrs. H. Kamphausen and children of Zanesville.

MR. AND MRS. WEBB

Entertained in Honor of Mme. Schumann-Heink, and Mr. Otto Meyer, After Concert Friday Night.

On Friday evening after the concert at the Auditorium, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Webb delightfully entertained at their home on Granville street with an informal dinner party complimentary to the two artists, Mme. Schumann Heink and Mr. Otto Meyer.

The table was beautifully arranged with dogwood blossoms and presented a dainty appearance. An elaborate course menu was served.

After the collation Mme. Schumann-Heink voluntarily sang Schubert's serenade, Mr. Meyer accompanying her. This is the first private home in which the Madame has ever sung. She was highly pleased with the accompaniment and Mr. Meyer will play with her in a concert in Chicago on October 2 and also in Columbus and Cincinnati.

The guests present were: Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mr. Otto Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warden, Mrs. Ella May Smith of Columbus, Mrs. J. S. Jones of Granville, Miss Ada Ickes of Columbus, Mrs. Titus and Miss Hartmann of New York.

After the honor guest, Mme. Schumann-Heink, had left, Mrs. Titus and Mr. Meyer entertained the company with several selections.

HEALTHY HAIR FOR ALL

BY USING

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

It is now possible for everyone to have healthy and rich looking hair, by using Newbro's Herpicide, the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ."

The presence of the dandruff germ in the scalp causes first, dull, brittle and lusterless hair, with later, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

All of these disagreeable symptoms will disappear, and the hair grow as nature intended, if the dandruff germ is destroyed and kept out of the scalp. Don't wait for chronic baldness for it is incurable. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp, almost instantly.

"I cannot speak too highly of Newbro's Herpicide, it keeps my hair and scalp in excellent condition."

All arrangements have been completed for the first annual reunion of the Harriman family, which will be at Olentangy Park, Columbus, Wednesday, June 12. All relatives and friends are invited. Every one who is in any way interested will be welcome.

The Harrimans came from Pennsylvania to Ohio at an early day and settled in Muskingum, from whence they migrated to Licking, Knox, Franklin and adjoining counties.

There is probably no other family in central Ohio more widely connected than the Harrimans, and they may look forward to June 12 as a day of more than usual interest. Anyone wishing further information can correspond with committeeman F. F. Harriman, Columbus, Ohio.

Will Enforce Rules.

Columbus, O., May 25.—That the state railroad commission will take steps to enforce the uniform application of the car service rules recently promulgated by it was indicated when it made public the following letter to a Hamilton paper company: "The commission is in receipt of your letter, stating that you have been advised by the Cincinnati Car Service association that the rules affecting car service, recently promulgated by this commission, are to apply only to cars engaged in intra-state traffic, and inquire if such limitation was the intention of this commission. In answer thereto we beg to say that the commission expects these rules to apply to all cars for loading or unloading within the state of Ohio without reference to whether the movement is intra-state or interstate."

The RAYMOND PIANO

"Nearest the Human Voice"

Start right—buy the RAYMOND!

Buy a piano, not by what you are getting now but by what you will have ten years from now and you will buy the RAYMOND. Consider RAYMOND quality and durability. You pay a trifle more for the RAYMOND but one RAYMOND outlasts two ordinary pianos. The RAYMOND then is even cheapest in price, in the end.

Why is the market crowded with (comparatively new) second-hand upright pianos? Because they were built for looks only and sold cheap.

Their owners exchanged their highly polished "thump-boxes" for real pianos and charged their loss to experience.

Don't you make this mistake.

Profit by our 51 years' experience and start with the RAYMOND.

We guarantee the RAYMOND for 10 years but it will last a lifetime.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

SENATOR J. W. DANIEL.

JOHN W. DANIEL.

Hon. John Warick Daniel, senator from Virginia, was born in Lynchburg, Va., on September 3, 1812. While still a college lad the great civil conflict broke out, and Senator Daniel entered the Confederate army where he did conspicuous service until the final surrender. He finished the war as an adjutant general on General Early's staff. Immediately after the war closed Senator Daniel began the study of law, and in a short time was admitted to the bar. He served both in the house of delegates and the senate of Virginia, and was sent to Congress in 1885. He finally was given the post in the upper house of Congress in 1877, where he has remained ever since, and has now until 1911 to serve in his present term. He has written a number of law books and his home is in his native town of Lynchburg.

IN POLICE COURT.

James Duerr, a drunk without any trimmings, was fined in police court by Mayor McCleery Saturday morning. When his name was called for arraignment, the chief told Mayor McCleery that James destroyed his shoes while at the city prison, sticking them into the stove there. He had no reason for doing so only that he had no other employment. Mayor McCleery observed that the man had not worked for some time and Duerr denied the charge, saying that he had worked hard.

"The only hard work I've heard of you doing," said the Mayor, "was working to drink all the liquor in the city. Five and costs and the county jail for you."

Since the arrest of F. M. Chambers Thursday night, Chief Sheridan has been looking up the man's record. A message received by the chief Friday night says that Chambers was sent up from Zanesville in October, 1895 on the same charge for which he is arrested here.

George Walker, claiming Dayton as his home, was arrested last night by Officers Weirick and Shively and slated at the city prison "investigation." The lad was found at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning wandering about the streets and as he told the officers several different stories he was locked up.

He could give the mayor no satisfactory account of his wanderings and was held until his case can be further investigated. He told Mayor McCleery that he was thrown upon the world by his father when his parents separated, saying that his mother loved another man and that neither he nor his father could get along with the woman. The mayor scored the lad for his lack of respect for his mother.

George Mason, a young man from the South End, was arrested Friday afternoon on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct. He has been up frequently before Mayor McCleery on complaint of his father and mother, who claim that he abuses them shamefully when drunk.

The father testified against George Saturday morning, saying that he knocked him down and threatened to kill him. George claims that the father doesn't work and drinks up all the booze George buys. The Mayor fined George $10 and costs on the two charges and sent him to the county jail for a spell.

Officer Hagar was detained by Chief Sheridan to do police duty at the Inter-scholastic track meet at Granville Sunday afternoon. This is one of the opportunities for the officer to make a little extra as the work is not for the city.

A report was circulated Saturday morning that the corner-stone of the East Newark fire building had been broken open and the copper box containing the articles mentioned yesterday, was stolen. An investigation by the police department proved the report to be false. A number of boys were playing about the site last night but no permanent damage was done.

England has 50,000 brass bands and 250,000 musicians.

FARMERS FIGHT BELLEFONTAINE HORSETHIEVES

MURDERER PAYS WIDOW OF THE MAN HE SHOT TO DEATH AT CINCINNATI.

Reward Offered For Information as to Whereabouts of Mrs. Grace Taggart—Ohio Name

Bellefontaine, O., May 25.—A battle between farmers and several horse-thieves took place when a second attempt was made to steal a buggy and several horses from the barn of Jonathan Morris, who resides on a farm near Huntsville. Morris took one of the wheels off the buggy and chained his horses. He and a farm-hand stood guard and when the thieves appeared opened fire on them. The robbers returned the fire, but they were forced to flee. One of their party was wounded and was carried away by them.

Struck Blow to Save Self.

Cleveland, O., May 25.—John O'Donnell, 17, confessed that he struck the blow which probably killed Pekka Pekala, a tailor, a few weeks ago, in an effort to save his chums, Chester Hawkins, 17, and Oliver Woods, 20. "I want to be square and don't want anybody to suffer for anything that I did," young O'Donnell said. "I was running to get away from Pekala. I saw a piling from a fence lying on the sidewalk. I picked up the piling and struck. I did it to save myself."

Want Eight-Hour Day.

Youngstown, O., May 25.—James McMahon, president of the National Association of Blast Furnace Workers, mailed to the furnace operatives the formal demand of the union for an eight-hour work day for all men now working 12 hours. The demand goes into effect on July 1. The following rate of wages per day is also asked: Keepers $3.00; helpers $3.50; fillers $2.50; laborers $1.75; (9 hours.)

Duke of Shantytown Settles.

Cincinnati, O., May 26.—Philip Schwartz, known as the "Duke of Shantytown," who is under indictment for murder in the first degree for shooting Policeman Satters, paid $650 to the widow of the man he shot. Mrs. Satters had sued for $10,000, claiming that was the value of her husband's service to his family and the $600 payment was in the nature of a compromise of the suit.

Associate of McKinley.

Cleveland, O., May 25.—Hugh C. Quigley, formerly identified in a business way with President McKinley, is dead. Mr. Quigley was associated with President McKinley in the development of mining interests in California and South Dakota while the latter was in congress. This followed his work in the coal trade, taken up when he came to Cleveland from Middlebury, O., in 1880.

Cures Spotted Fever.

Sandusky, O., May 25.—Miss Barbara Kratt, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart Kratt of Castalia, the second human being inoculated with the spotted fever antitoxin, recently discovered at the Rockefeller Institute for the Investigation of Infectious Disease, New York city, has completely recovered and is up and around. The disease has left no ill effects.

Ravages of Electrical Storm.

Marysville, O., May 25.—An electrical storm caused many thousands of dollars' damage in Union county. A barn belonging to W. C. Fullington was burned, loss $6,000, partially insured. Bolkes Creek schoolhouse and several smaller barns were burned. A team driven to a barn by Noah Trout, aged 19, was struck and killed and Trout was badly injured.

Reward For Mrs. Taggart.

Omaha, Neb., May 25.—William Taggart, cousin of Captain E. S. Taggart, offers $1,000 reward for information concerning the whereabouts of Mrs. Grace Taggart, divorced wife of Captain Taggart, and her two boys. Taggart says the relatives in Orrville, O., are anxious to see the children, but he will not say who is putting up the $1,000 reward.

"Drys" Defeated at Marietta.

Marietta, O., May 25.—After one of the hottest, yet cleanest, campaigns ever conducted in Marietta the city went wet in the local option election held here Friday. The vote was 945 dry and 2,058 wet the wets winning by 1,113 majority. This is one of the largest towns in the state in which the Anti-Saloon league has tried to carry local option.

Destroyed Himself.

Columbus, O., May 25.—After suffering from delirium for the past ten days, Edward H. we aged 75 years, living on the west side, committed suicide by shooting himself in the left breast. For some time he had expressed a desire to die, and had refused to eat. He left wife and several grown children.

Dick Returns.

Akron, O., May 25.—Senator Charles Dick, who has been in Washington for 10 days, has returned home. He said his return on the eve of the meeting of the county executive committee had no political significance and he declined to discuss politics of any nature.

PRODUCERS

Have you tried these little WANT ADS? They are producers of results. They get you what you want, if it is to be had in Newark. Just see how easily they will sell your horse and buggy, rent your house, get a servant or cook. If you have never tried them, do so at once. They are good for other people, why won't they be good for you? Three lines 3 times, 25 cents. The cost is so small you will hardly notice it if it were not for the results they bring.

THIS AND THAT

People are beginning to have confidence that May 23 skiddooed winter all right.
"Pie is one of the worst enemies man has," says a Baltimore physician. But there are physicians in Newark who would rather have a piece of home-made cherry pie than the rheumatism.
This country has had no monopoly of wintry spring. Untimely frosts, snow and hail have been just as prevalent over on the other hemisphere.
Congressman Dalzell's remark that Roosevelt's support of Taft is injuring him puts him in the list of conspirators against the President and his policies. There are some Taft boomers who would characterize it as no less than high treason.
A cable from Corey, now spending his honeymoon in France, complains of his recent treatment in America.
It's too bad that men of the Corey sudden wealth stripe are not applauded in this country for getting divores from their wives to marry chorus girls.
Mrs. Carrie Nation's latest fad is making war on tobacco. At a railroad station in Pennsylvania Carrie grabbed cigars from the mouths of men and tramped them (the cigars) under her feet. She didn't need her hatchet on this occasion.
The Republican leaders of Pennsylvania are blocking the Roosevelt-Taft game in that state by putting Senator Knox forward for the Presidential nomination. Other states are expected to follow the Pennsylvania lead.
And now the United States Corporation is looking for a new president to succeed Corey, who married the actress. The company will doubtless be careful to select a man who will not

SUMMER FEATURES

Y. M. C. A. Offering Special Membership Privileges to Young Men of Newark.

In order that all the young men of the community may take advantage of the many summer privileges in the Y. M. C. A. a special membership is being offered, good until October 1.
This catifies them both to the regular membership and the athletic park privileges as well. The shower baths, swimming pool, tennis courts, baseball park, camps and outings provide comfort and pleasure that are taken advantage of by a large number. The swimming pool and shower bath have special popularity in the summer months and are worth several times the cost of the membership. The tennis courts and baseball park furnish both pleasure and physical profit during the long summer days.
A new interest is being manifested in tennis and a large number are expected to take part in this great summer sport. A special tennis membership can be secured. Tournaments are being planned and arrangements made to teach beginners the game.
Another feature keenly looked forward to by the boys are camps and hikes. Two and possibly three camps will be conducted during July. One for Juniors, one for the older boys and one for young men. Beginning July 2 boys 14 to 18 years old will start for the State Gypsy Camp at Coshocton. July 15, all the Juniors will go out for the annual camp. Two beautiful sites are being considered of which announcement will be made shortly. A summer membership is being offered by the association including all the above privileges for $4 for men, $2 for boys, good until October 1. Further particulars of the above can be secured at the Y. M. C.
A. office.

Strikers Dominate Town.
Santiago, Cuba, May 25.—The strike of longshoremen and others here has become serious. The strikers now dominate the city and the police are almost powerless. The police were compelled to fire a volley before they were able to disperse a crowd of rich-ers armed with clubs and stones, and merchants are closing their places of business.
Rebels Repulsed.
Guayaquil, Ecuador, May 24.—Parties of armed rebels appeared between Ambato and Latacunga and made attempts on both towns. Troops from Latacunga surprised and dispersed the rebels, who lost three men killed. The government force had one man killed.

MUSIC FESTIVAL ENDS FRIDAY
WITH GREAT SCHUMANN-HEINK
Auditorium Packed From Gallery to Proscenium With Lovers of Music Who Were Delighted With the Wonderful Artist--Pianiste Also Well Received.

The Newark Festival of 1907 was brought to a triumphant climax and close last night with the song recital of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink.
The Auditorium was packed to the roof, and those who had neglected to secure their seats in the advance sale were doomed to bitter disappointment.
Three special cars brought the Granville delegation to the doors of the Auditorium, while the contingent from Zanesville was almost as large, and numbers attended from Mt. Vernon and other towns in the vicinity.
At 7 o'clock the line of people waiting for the gallery doors to open reached from the lobby along Second street, and half a block down Church street
in a double line, over 500 people.
At about 8:20 the curtain rose,
and when Mme. Schumann-Heink appeared she was greeted by a storm of applause such as is very seldom heard in Newark. She was exquisitely gowned and by her gracious, unaffected manner at once won the hearts of her audience, even before she had sung a note. She was accompanied by Miss Josephine Hartmann, a young pianiste of enviable reputation, both here and abroad. As soon as the applause had subsided the favorite aria,
"Ronde-Mi," from Rossini's opera,
"Mitane," was given, thus at the outset showing the audience the wonderful tone quality, or rather qualities, that make Mme. Schumann-Heink unique among all contraltos.
It is not merely the phenomenal compass of her voice that is wonderful,
but the variety of color in the different registers, that make the hearer doubt that the same vocal organs can produce tones now of a rich contralto, now of a lyric soprano, and again almost of a deep heavy baritone quality. Sometimes on one sustained tone she will change from one to the other, like an organist suddenly shifting his combination of stops without releasing the keys, giving an almost magical effect.
Following this came a group of three Schubert songs, "Du bist die Ruhe," "Wohnin" and "Der Wanderer." These beautiful songs were never more beautifully rendered, and the delighted audience demanded the repetition of the second. The tonal shading as well as the sympathetic facial expression made the English translations on the program almost superfluous. As an encore
Mme. Schumann-Heink sang the aria
"The Lord is Mindful of His Own,"
from Mendelssohn's oratorio "St.
Paul." This was done in English, and the slight German flavor which still clings to her speech in spite of her proud boast of American citizenship, only made the rendition more pleasing.
Throughout all these numbers
Miss Hartmann had proved herself a model accompanist, by subordinating
the piano to the voice absolutely, except where it had some definite melody to bring out supplementary to the voice. We were now given an opportunity to hear her in a piano solo, a fantasia in F minor by Chopin, and found that her ability was by no means exaggerated. She played with great brilliancy and clearness of tone,
as well as perfection of technique.
As an encore she played Chopin's
"Butterfly Etude," in which still further demands were made on velocity and wrist technique.
Mme. Schumann-Heink then returned with three songs, "Heimweh"
by Hugo Wolf, "Die Drei Zigeuner," by Liszt and Schumann's "Widmung."
The second with its gypsy-like changes of mood gave ample opportunity for the varieties of coloring which Mme. Schumann-Heink was not slow to take advantage of. From this she passed directly on to the "Sapphic Ode"
and Gypsy Song Cycle of Brahms.
In these six Hungarian Gypsy songs
the perfect flexibility and control of her voice in all its registers make Mme. Schumann-Heink supreme. It might almost be said that until one hears her one hardly knows the meaning of expression and color in singing, so great a revelation is it. In response to the enthusiasm of the audience she sang the Brindisi Waltz
Song, and "Der Lenz ist Da," by Hil-

MISS HIRSHBERG
Sang for Mme. Schumann-Heink and the Latter Invited Her to New York City.

"The Feast of Adonis," a cantata
by Adolf Jensen, will be the principal number on the program for the concert given by Trinity church choir at Taylor Hall Tuesday evening, May 28. This work, representing the annual festival of the ancient Greeks,
in honor of Adonis and the goddess Aphrodite, is one of the most beautiful short cantatas ever written. It is composed for chorus and soprano and tenor solo voices. Last evening after the concert at the Auditorium, Miss Elsa Hirschberg, who will assist at this concert, was given the honor of singing for Mme. Schumann-Heink.
The great madame was most enthusiastic over Miss Hirschberg's singing, saying that she had a wonderfully beautiful voice and a magnificent future before her. She asked Miss Hirschberg to come to New York at her first opportunity and sing an entire program for her.
Tickets for the concert on Tuesday evening may be had from members of the choir or at the Y. M. C. A. The admission is 25 cents. Seats reserved at the Y. M. C. A. Monday May 27, at 9 a. m.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market.
It is taken internally in doses from 10

J-19-
The ills peculiar to women, take different forms.
Some ladies suffer, every month, from dark rings round their eyes, blotches on their skin and tired feeling. Others suffer agonies of pain, that words can hardly express.
Whatever the symptoms, remember there is one medicine that will go beyond mere symptoms, and act on the cause of their troubles, the weakened womanly organs.
Wine of Cardui
Mrs. M. C. Austin, of Memphis, Tenn., writes: "For five (5) years I suffered with every symptom of female disease, but after using the well-known Cardui Home Treatment, I was entirely well."

Arguments in Eddy Case.
 Concord, N. H., May 25.—Arguments were completed in the Merrimack county superior court on the motion of the trustees of the estate of Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, to intervene and be substituted as plaintiffs in the suit brought by her son, George W. Glover, and others, to compel an accounting of her property. Judge R. N. Chamberlain, the presiding justice, issued an order that all affidavits and all citations in the case be filed by next Tuesday and his decision on the motion will be given later.

Threaten to Strike.
 Halifax, N. S., May 25.—A strike of more than 1,000 longshoremen employed on the docks in this city will be declared Sunday night unless their demand for an increase of five cents an hour in wages is granted.

Theodore Tilton Dying.
 Paris, May 25.—Theodore Tilton, the American editor and author, who has been ill in this city for several days of pneumonia, is weaker. He can no longer retain nourishment and his chances of recovery are small. In 1874 Mr. Tilton preferred serious charges against Henry Ward Beecher, who had been his pastor and intimate friend, and demanded damages of $100,000. After the tragedy which wrecked his career Mr. Tilton came to Paris, where he has since lived a solitary existence.

name of the winner can not be immediately announced. The figures will have to be carefully gone over and verified by reference to the vote ledger and receipt stubs in order that the decision may be absolutely correct. A number of the contestants in the ring contest are close together and the vote of Monday will decide the matter. The young ladies who have seen the pretty diamond ring at this office have all greatly admired it. The second prize is a $10 gold piece.

The special prizes for the coming week will be on exhibition in the Griggs and the Powers-Miller companies' windows. The prizes are offered by the companies themselves.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, May 25.—After sixty-five days of hard drilling and bad luck, the Columbus company's well on the Sinnott farm, south of Maple Grove cemetery, Granville, was finished Thursday. There was not a great quantity of sand and was badly mixed with salt. The well is 112 feet deep and will probably guage about 200,000. As the well is but a short distance from their pump station the gas will be used under their boilers. As superintendent of the pump station, Henry Harriman Montfort puts it: "When mixed with sunshine, cayenne pepper, mustard, ginger, horse radish, and Granville air it will perhaps furnish heat enough for a boiler or two." The well is a big disappointment to the farmers as well as the company. This is the third well drilled on the Sinnott estate, the other two being dusters.

Walter, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griffith, residing several miles north of Granville, met with a peculiar accident Monday night. He was about to retire when he jumped on the bed, which is near one of the windows, and being in a playful mood, swung his feet around, striking the glass, breaking it and cutting an ugly gash in the calf of his leg. Aside from being slightly lame, however, he is not much the worse for the accident.

Rev. Mr. Ayres, missionary from Japan, will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. Do not fail to hear his interesting story on this remarkable country and people. Rev. D. Dempster will preach the Soldier's memorial sermon at the union services Sabbath evening. Mr. Dempster gave an address at the County Sunday School convention Friday at 3:30 p. m. at Kirkersville. On June 9th Mr. Dempster will preach the K. of P. Memorial sermon to the lodges of Granville and surrounding territory.

The baccalaureate sermon of the Granville High school will be preached by the Rev. J. N. Eason, pastor of the M. E. church.

A number of Presbyterians from Granville and other denominations attended the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Columbus this week.

Deacon A. R. Wright has purchased the A. U. Thresher property on Mulberry street, now occupied by Prof. Goodell and expects to move this coming fall.

The union memorial services will be held in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. David Dempster will preach the sermon.

Mrs. Roland Curtiss, Miss Curtis of Mt. Vernon, Mr. Jess White, of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Mary White of Newark were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. White during the Festival week.

Mrs. Crayton Black, accompanied by her daughter Bernice, was in attendance at the Festival. Mrs. Black as Dillie Carter has always taken an active interest in Granville affairs.

Miss Mary S. Conrade of Zanesville attended the Festival Thursday. Miss Conrade is a composer of wide popularity, her songs for children being used in many of the schools of our country.

The following program will be carried out Memorial day: General Order No. 8 will be read by the secretary; invocation by the Chaplain; Sergeants notice of welcome to all; music by Denison Glee club; Address by Comrade Wood of Newark; music by Denison Glee club; decorating graves.

Alfred M. Colby of Dayton, a former popular Denison student, has accepted a position with the Columbian Manufacturing company at Cleveland. Mrs. Adele Doenitz of Defiance was in town this week attending the May Festival, and while here was the guest of her friend Mrs. J. W. Ackley. Mrs. Doenitz is an accomplished musician, and takes the opportunity of hearing many fine musical entertainments.

At a special meeting of the old soldiers held Friday evening at G. A. R. Post Hall, the final arrangements for Decoration Day were made.

Complaints have been made by boys running over lawns while engaged at play. A number of complaints of this nature have been made of late, and an effort will be made to break up the practice.

OUR READERS APPRECIATIVE

THE VEGETABLE PRESCRIPTION FILLED MANY TIMES IN TWO WEEKS.

No Sufferer of Kidney or Bladder Troubles or Rheumatism Should Leave It Untried.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well known local pharmacist filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folks naturally bought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription of vegetable ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive, compound which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first.

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Newark People Stand the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Newark people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

F. Lisey, commission merchant, of 39 South Fourth street, Newark, O., says:

"I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since 1896, and therefore think more than ever of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me eight years ago, and I made a statement for publication at that time recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. This statement I will repeat for the benefit of other sufferers from kidney troubles:

"For several years I was distressed and annoyed with pain in the back just over the kidneys, and whenever I stooped or tried to lift anything the trouble became acute. Treatment had failed to bring me relief and at last I laid aside the prescriptions I had been using and went to Crayton's drug store for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. The use of this remedy proved so effective that my back has been sound ever since I used Doan's Kidney Pills eight years ago. I therefore have no hesitation in recommending them to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Use 1/3 Less Baking Powder

Egg Baking Powder has 50 per cent more leavening power than other kinds.
 Thus you can use 1/3 less baking powder if you use "Egg."
 And that's only the beginning of its economies. You see, Egg Baking Powder is dried white of egg and wheat phosphates, and because of the egg there is in it you save 1/3 the cost used in baking with ordinary baking powders. The saving in both baking powder and eggs amounts to considerable money in the course of a year.

And for good measure, Egg Baking Powder also saves you all the worry because it insures against failure. It is a guarantee that you will bake light, wholesome and delicious biscuits, muffins and griddle-cakes; cake that you can be proud of.

Best of all, Egg Baking Powder saves health because it is composed of the very elements needed to build up healthy bodies—the essence of Eggs and Wheat. No cream of tartar, tartaric acid, alum, or other irritating poisonous substances.

Egg Baking Powder leaves no sediment—no baking powder "taste." It brings out the best there is in the flour and makes baking day a pleasure. The great railroad and steamship companies and the finest hotels buy Egg Baking Powder, because of its high quality and wonderful economy.

Pure Food Commissioners, noted physicians and chemists testify to its purity and healthfulness.

The Egg Cook Book, sent free for a postal, tells you about many new appetite tempters. Send today. Best grocers sell Egg Baking Powder.

THIS AND THAT

People are beginning to have confidence that May 23 skiddooed winter all right.

"Pie is one of the worst enemies man has," says a Baltimore physician. But there are physicians in Newark who would rather have a piece of home-made cherry pie than the rheumatism.

This country has had no monopoly of wintry spring. Untimely frosts, snow and hail have been just as prevalent over on the other hemisphere.

Congressman Dalzell's remark that Roosevelt's support of Taft is injuring him puts him in the list of conspirators against the President and his policies. There are some Taft boomers who would characterize it as no less than high treason.

A cable from Corey, now spending his honeymoon in France, complains of his recent treatment in America. It's too bad that men of the Corey sudden wealth stripe are not applauded in this country for getting divorces from their wives to marry chorus girls.

Mrs. Carrie Nation's latest fad is making war on tobacco. At a railroad station in Pennsylvania Carrie grabbed cigars from the mouths of men and tramped them (the cigars) under her feet. She didn't need her hatchet on this occasion.

The Republican leaders of Pennsylvania are blocking the Roosevelt-Taft game in that state by putting Senator Knox forward for the Presidential nomination. Other states are expected to follow the Pennsylvania lead.

And now the United States Corporation is looking for a new president to succeed Corey, who married the actress. The company will doubtless be careful to select a man who will not

A dose or two of Man-a-lin is advisable in slight febrile attacks, la grippe, colds and influenza.

SUMMER FEATURES

Y. M. C. A. Offering Special Membership Privileges to Young Men of Newark.

In order that all the young men of the community may take advantage of the many summer privileges in the Y. M. C. A. a special membership is being offered, good until October 1. This entitles them both to the regular membership and the athletic park privileges as well. The shower baths, swimming pool, tennis courts, baseball park, camps and outings provide comfort and pleasure that are taken advantage of by a large number. The swimming pool and shower bath have special popularity in the summer months and are worth several times the cost of the membership. The tennis courts and baseball park furnish both pleasure and physical profit during the long summer days.

A new interest is being manifested in tennis and a large number are expected to take part in this great summer sport. A special tennis membership can be secured. Tournaments are being planned and arrangements made to teach beginners the game.

Another feature keenly looked forward to by the boys are camps and hikes. Two and possibly three camps will be conducted during July. One for Juniors, one for the older boys and one for young men. Beginning July 2 boys 14 to 18 years old will start for the State Gypsy Camp at Coshocton. July 15, all the Juniors will go out for the annual camp. Two beautiful sites are being considered of which announcement will be made shortly. A summer membership is being offered by the association including all the above privileges for $4 for men, $2 for boys, good until October 1. Further particulars of the above can be secured at the Y. M. C. A. office.

WITH GREAT SCHUMANN-HEINK

Auditorium Packed From Gallery to Proscenium With Lovers of Music Who Were Delighted With the Wonderful Artist--Pianiste Also Well Received.

The Newark Festival of 1907 was brought to a triumphant climax and close last night with the song recital of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink. The Auditorium was packed to the roof, and those who had neglected to secure their seats in the advance sale were doomed to bitter disappointment.

Three special cars brought the Granville delegation to the doors of the Auditorium, while the contingent from Zanesville was almost as large, and numbers attended from Mt. Vernon and other towns in the vicinity. At 7 o'clock the line of people waiting for the gallery doors to open reached from the lobby along Second street, and half a block down Church street in a double line, over 500 people.

At about 8:20 the curtain rose, and when Mme. Schumann-Heink appeared she was greeted by a storm of applause such as is very seldom heard in Newark. She was exquisitely gowned and by her gracious, unaffected manner at once won the hearts of her audience, even before she had sung a note. She was accompanied by Miss Josephine Hartmann, a young pianiste of enviable reputation, both here and abroad. As soon as the applause had subsided the favorite aria, "Ronde-Mi," from Rossini's opera, "Alcina," was given, thus at the outset showing the audience the wonderful tone quality, or rather qualities, that make Mme. Schumann-Heink unique among all contraltos. It is not merely the phenomenal compass of her voice that is wonderful, but the variety of color in the different registers, that make the hearer doubt that the same vocal organs can produce tones now of a rich contralto, now of a lyric soprano, and again almost of a deep heavy baritone quality. Sometimes on one sustained tone she will change from one to the other, like an organist suddenly shifting his combination of stops without releasing the keys, giving an almost magical effect.

Following this came a group of three Schubert songs, "Du bist die Ruhe," "Wohin" and "Der Wanderer." These beautiful songs were never more beautifully rendered, and the delighted audience demanded the repetition of the second. The tonal shading as well as the sympathetic facial expression made the English translations on the program almost superfluous. As an encore Mme. Schumann-Heink sang the aria "The Lord is Mindful of His Own," from Mendelssohn's oratorio "St. Paul." This was done in English, and the slight German flavor which still clings to her speech in spite of her proud boast of American citizenship, only made the rendition more pleasing.

Throughout all these numbers Miss Hartmann had proved herself a model accompanist, by subordinating the piano to the voice absolutely, except where it had some definite melody to bring out supplementarily to the voice. We were now given an opportunity to hear her in a piano solo, a fantasia in F minor by Chopin, and found that her ability was by no means exaggerated. She played with great brilliancy and clearness of tone, as well as perfection of technique. As an encore she played Chopin's "Butterfly Etude," in which still further demands were made on velocity and wrist technique.

Mme. Schumann-Heink then returned with three songs, "Heimweh" by Hugo Wolf, "Die Drei Zigeuner," by Liszt and Schumann's "Widmung." The second with its gypsy-like changes of mood gave ample opportunity for the varieties of coloring which Mme. Schumann-Heink was not slow to take advantage of. From this she passed directly on to the "Sapphic Ode" and Gypsy Song Cycle of Brahms.

In these six Hungarian Gypsy songs the perfect flexibility and control of her voice in all its registers make Mme. Schumann-Heink supreme. It might almost be said that until one hears her one hardly knows the meaning of expression and color in singing, so great a revelation is it. In response to the enthusiasm of the audience she sang the Brindisi Waltz Song, and "Der Lenz ist Da," by Hil-

MISS HIRSBERG

Sang for Mme. Schumann-Heink and the Latter Invited Her to New York City.

"The Feast of Adonis," a cantata by Adolf Jensen, will be the principal number on the program for the concert given by Trinity church choir at Taylor Hall Tuesday evening, May 28. This work, representing the annual festival of the ancient Greeks, in honor of Adonis and the goddess Aphrodite, is one of the most beautiful short cantatas ever written. It is composed for chorus and soprano and tenor solo voices. Last evening after the concert at the Auditorium, Miss Elsa Hirschberg, who will assist at this concert, was given the honor of singing for Mme. Schumann-Heink. The great madame was most enthusiastic over Miss Hirschberg's singing, saying that she had a wonderfully beautiful voice and a magnificent future before her. She asked Miss Hirschberg to come to New York at her first opportunity and sing an entire program for her.

Tickets for the concert on Tuesday evening may be had from members of the choir or at the Y. M. C. A. The admission is 25 cents. Seats reserved at the Y. M. C. A. Monday May 27, at 9 a. m.

Jurors In Schmitz Case.

San Francisco, May 25.—Six of the 12 jurors who will try Mayor Eugene Schmitz on the charge of extorting money from keepers of French restaurants, have been finally selected and sworn and the prospect is that the jury will be completed next week.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Rings Round Eyes

The ills peculiar to women, take different forms. Some ladies suffer, every month, from dark rings round their eyes, blotches on their skin and tired feeling. Others suffer agonies of pain, that words can hardly express. Whatever the symptoms, remember there is one medicine that will go beyond mere symptoms, and act on the cause of their troubles, the weakened womanly organs.

Wine of Cardui

Mrs. M. C. Austin, of Memphis, Tenn., writes: "For five (5) years I suffered with every symptom of female disease, but after using the well-known Cardui Home Treatment, I was entirely well."

Arguments in Eddy Case.

Concord, N. H., May 25.—Arguments were completed in the Merrimack county superior court on the motion of the trustees of the estate of Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, to intervene and be substituted as plaintiffs in the suit brought by her son, George W. Glover, and others, to compel an accounting of her property. Judge R. N. Chamberlain, the presiding justice, issued an order that all affidavits and all citations in the case be filed by next Tuesday and his decision on the motion will be given later.

Theodore Tilton Dying.

Paris, May 25.—Theodore Tilton, the American editor and author, who has been ill in this city for several days of pneumonia, is weaker. He can no longer retain nourishment and his chances of recovery are small. In 1874 Mr. Tilton preferred serious charges against Henry Ward Beecher, who had been his pastor and intimate friend, and demanded damages of $100,000. After the tragedy which wrecked his career Mr. Tilton came to Paris, where he has since lived a solitary existence.

name of the winner can not be immediately announced. The figures will have to be carefully gone over and verified by reference to the vote ledger and receipt stubs in order that the decision may be absolutely correct. A number of the contestants in the ring contest are close together and the vote of Monday will decide the matter. The young ladies who have seen the pretty diamond ring at this office have all greatly admired it. The second prize is a $10 gold piece.

The special prizes for the coming week will be on exhibition in the Griggs and the Powers-Miller companies' windows. The prizes are offered by the companies themselves.

GRANVILLE NEWS

Granville, May 25.—After sixty-five days of hard drilling and bad luck, the Columbus company's well on the Sinnett farm, south of Maple Grove cemetery, Granville, was finished Thursday. There was not a great quantity of sand and was badly mixed with silt. The well is 1 1/2 inch (bore) and will probably gauge about 200-000. As the well is but a short distance from their pump station the gas will be used under their boilers. As superintendent of the pump station, Henry Harriman Montfort puts it: "When mixed with sunshine, cayenne pepper, mustard, ginger, horse radish, and Granville air it will perhaps furnish heat enough for a boiler or two." The well is a big disappointment to the farmers as well as the company. This is the third well drilled on the Sinnett estate, the other two being dusters.

Walter, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griffith, residing several miles north of Granville, met with a peculiar accident Monday night. He was about to retire when he jumped on the bed, which is near one of the windows, and being in a playful mood, swung his feet around, striking the glass, breaking it and cutting an ugly gash in the calf of his leg. Aside from being slightly lame, however, he is not much the worse for the accident.

Rev. Mr. Ayres, missionary from Japan, will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. Do not fail to hear his interesting story on this remarkable country and people. Rev. D. Dempster will preach the Soldier's memorial sermon at the union services Sabbath evening. Mr. Dempster gave an address at the County Sunday School convention Friday at 3:30 p. m. at Kirkersville. On June 9th Mr. Dempster will preach the K. of P. Memorial sermon to the lodges of Granville and surrounding territory.

The baccalaureate sermon of the Granville High school will be preached by the Rev. J. N. Eason, pastor of the M. E. church.

A number of Presbyterians from Granville and other denominations attended the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Columbus this week.

Deacon A. R. Wright has purchased the A. U. Thresher property on Mulberry street, now occupied by Prof. Goodell and expects to move this coming fall.

The union memorial services will be held in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. David Dempster will preach the sermon.

Mrs. Roland Curtiss, Miss Curtis of Mt. Vernon, Mr. Jess White, of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Mary White of Newark were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. White during the festival week.

Mrs. Crayton Black, accompanied by her daughter Bernice, was in attendance at the festival. Mrs. Black as Dillie Carter has always taken an active interest in Granville affairs.

Miss Mary S. Conrade of Zanesville attended the festival Thursday. Miss Conrade is a composer of wide popularity, her songs for children being used in many of the schools of our country.

The following program will be carried out Memorial day: General Order No. 8 will be read by the secretary; invocation by the Chaplain; Sergeants notice of welcome to all; music by Denison Glee club; Address by Comrade Wood of Newark; music by Denison Glee club; decorating graves.

Alfred M. Colby of Dayton, a former popular Denison student, has accepted a position with the Columbian Manufacturing company at Cleveland. Mrs. Adele Doenitz of Defiance was in town this week attending the May Festival, and while here was the guest of her friend Mrs. J. W. Ackley. Mrs. Doenitz is an accomplished musician, and takes the opportunity of hearing many fine musical entertainments.

At a special meeting of the old soldiers held Friday evening at G. A. R. Post Hall, the final arrangements for Decoration Day were made.

Complaints have been made by boys running over lawns while engaged at play. A number of complaints of this nature have been made of late, and an effort will be made to break up the practice.

OUR READERS APPRECIATIVE

THE VEGETABLE PRESCRIPTION FILLED MANY TIMES IN TWO WEEKS.

No Sufferer of Kidney or Bladder Troubles or Rheumatism Should Leave It Untried.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well known local pharmacist filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folks naturally bought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription of vegetable ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive, compound which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first.

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Newark People Stand the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Newark people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

F. Lisey, commission merchant, of 39 South Fourth street, Newark, O., says:

"I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since 1896, and therefore think more than ever of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me eight years ago, and I made a statement for publication at that time recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. This statement I will repeat for the benefit of other sufferers from kidney troubles:

"For several years I was distressed and annoyed with pain in the back just over the kidneys, and whenever I stooped or tried to lift anything the trouble became acute. Treatment had failed to bring me relief and I last I laid aside the prescriptions I had been using and went to Crayton's drug store for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. The use of this remedy proved so effective that my back has been sound ever since I used Doan's Kidney Pills eight years ago. I therefore have no hesitation in recommending them to others."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 41

Use 1/3 Less Baking Powder

Egg Baking Powder has 50 per cent more leavening power than other kinds.

Thus you can use 1/3 less baking powder if you use "Egg."

And that's only the beginning of its economies. You see, Egg Baking Powder is dried white of egg and wheat phosphates, and because of the egg it is 50 per cent more powerful than ordinary baking powders. The saving in both baking powder and eggs amounts to considerable money in the course of a year.

And for good measure, Egg Baking Powder also saves you all the worry because it insures against failure. It is a guarantee that you will bake light, wholesome and delicious biscuits, muffins and griddle-cakes; cake that you can be proud of.

Best of all, Egg Baking Powder saves health because it is composed of the very elements needed to build up healthy bodies—the essence of Eggs and Wheat. No cream of tartar, tartaric acid, alum, or other irritating poisonous substances.

Egg Baking Powder leaves no sediment—no baking powder taste. It brings out the best there is in the flour and makes baking day a pleasure. The great railroad and steamship companies and the finest hotels buy Egg Baking Powder, because of its high quality and wonderful economy. Pure Food Commissioners, noted physicians and chemists testify to its purity and healthfulness.

STOUP WORKING AGAINST MARION

BOB BERRYHILL VISITS HOME AT LEBANON AND RETURNS TODAY.

Joe Locke Will Work For Newark on Sunday at Marion—To Mansfield Monday.

Marion, O., May 25.—Manager Berryhill who went to his home in Lebanon, expects to be back here this afternoon by 2 o'clock in time for the game. The grounds are very bad, owing to the heavy rain but the game will be played nevertheless. Sandy Murray is still out and Gygli will play second in his place. Wall's finger is nothing him today and Smith will take his place. The batteries for today are Stoupe and Pearce for Newark and Wilmet and Luskey for Marion. Locke will be in the box tomorrow. The team goes to Mansfield Monday when Webb will do the twirling.

MAY BE POSTPONED

Marion, May 25.—(Special)—It is raining here at 2:30 and the game may be postponed.

MEN AND WOMEN CHARGED AT GAMES DECORATION DAY

RULES OF LEAGUE SAY ALL MUST MUST PAY GENERAL ADMISSION.

Frank Delehanty Signs With Cleveland Team and Will Not Play at Sandusky.

Newark fans are looking forward with great pleasure to the games between Newark and Lancaster scheduled for Memorial Day morning and afternoon. The morning game will be called at 10 o'clock sharp. The afternoon game will be called at 3:15 o'clock.

Business Manager Maurath asks that the public be made to understand that men, women and children alike will be charged 25 cents at the big gate. This is in accordance with the rules and by-laws of the league. A general admission at the grand stand will be charged all people on that day, the regular charge being 15 cents.

A special from Cleveland says that Frank Delehanty who was to play with Sandusky against Cleveland tomorrow, will not play. He had a talk with the Cleveland club officials yesterday and came to an agreement with them and signed a contract. He worked out with the Naps and will not be in the game with Sandusky.

ILLEGAL FISHING AT BUCKEYE LAKE

Wayne Fickle, a well known fisherman of the Buckeye Lake, was arrested on an affidavit sworn to by Deputy Game Warden Frank Melinski, charging him with fishing with nets in the Buckeye Lake. He was brought to Newark and taken before Justice M. O. Nash and was required to give bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance in court Tuesday morning, June 4, at 9 o'clock.

JAMES B. MCCREARY.

DAY'S BUSINESS IN COURT HOUSE

In Common Pleas.

The case of Nint E. Weekly vs John M. Lambert was on trial in the Common Pleas court Friday. Plaintiff says that the defendant is indebted to her for certain vacant, oats, straw and rent of barn. Plaintiff purchased a farm on which defendant had in crop of wheat and oats. She says that he took and carried away from the premises of the plaintiff, situated in Newton township, and converted to his own use 15 1-2 bushels of oats of the value of $5.72 and one-half of the oats straw raised on five acres of said premises of the value of $12.50 which she says was her property, and to her damage in the sum of $18.22.

The defendant denies the claim of the plaintiff and says that the crop was put in on the shares, on a contract and agreement with Anna E. Sturman and husband, the former owner of the farm, and he says that he does not owe the plaintiff anything. Nott Norpell & Norpell.

Sarah Bash vs. Daniel Hipple et al heretofore submitted to court on motion to quash the return of the service of summons; motion sustained leave given to amend return. Kibler & Montgomery; Smythe & Smythe Fulton & Fulton.

P. Smith & Sons' Lumber Co. vs Louisa McKim; submitted to the court on motion to dismiss the petition. The motion was supported by affidavits and claims that the defendant in the action is a widow and entitled to the provisions, in lieu of homestead, provided by the statute the court held that under the showing made by affidavit she is entitled to the exemption of $500 in lieu of homestead.

In the case of Albert A. Stasel, receiver of Newark Savings Bank Co. vs. E. J. Maurath, owing to an amendment being filed to the answer of defendant, or an amended answer it will be necessary for the plaintiff to take the deposition of James F. Lingafelter. The case had been set down for trial Monday next, but defendant's counsel this morning asked for leave to file the amendment, and waived formal notice of the taking of depositions. The attorneys in the case left for Columbus to take the deposition at the penitentiary. Stasel, Smythe & Smythe.

The case of William Zipperer vs. Fred Speer was assigned for trial next Saturday. The suit is brought to enjoin the defendant from the use of a right of way in the rear of the old Thomas Mill property, and in the rear of Zipperer's home. Smythe & Smythe; Kibler & Montgomery.

Magdalena Daugherty vs. James Daugherty, et al.; judgment of settlement. J. B. Jones.

A. A. Stasel, receiver, vs. J. C. Jones; judgment on the demurrer was entered and exceptions. Stasel; J. B. Jones.

A. A. Stasel, receiver, et al., vs. E. J. Maurath; leave given to file amended answer instant. Stasel; Smythe & Smythe, Kibler & Montgomery.

Arthur Trisau vs. Central Window Glass Co.; motion for security for costs sustained Deposit will be made. Stillwell of M. Vernon; Hunter.

First National bank of Fredericktown vs. George W. Davidson; leave given to file reply in 20 days on behalf of the bank. The suit is brought by plaintiff on a promissory note alleging that the Bank purchased the note from Leady & Son. Leady & Son sold to Davidson a station for $725. Leady & Son sold the bank the note, and Davidson is resisting payment of the note on the ground that the station was warranted and that there has been a breach of the warranty; that Davidson had knowledge of the defect and purchased the note with notice. Stillwell of M. Vernon; Swartz, Leamon, Owens.

Temporary Alimony.

The case of Leora J. Hedrick against Lewis W. Hedrick, was called up before Judge Brister by Smythe & Smythe, Friday morning on a motion for temporary alimony. He had filed an answer by James R. Fitzgibbon and Russell & Horner, but did not make any defense. The court gave her $200 temporary alimony.

In the case of Samuel J. Dunlop against Charles C. Beckman, the defendant has filed his answer and cross-petition. He asks that the petition of the plaintiff be dismissed; that The Newark Real Estate and Improvement company be made a party defendant to this action; that an accounting may be had between the parties as the partnership; that the defendant be re-imbursement and repaid for any and all sums he may have advanced in the partnership business; that no receiver be appointed; the assets of the partnership has been converted by plaintiff and sold by him, and that the transactions be fully settled. Defendants ask for all and other relief to which they may be entitled. Flory & Flory, attorneys for the defendant.

The Newark Artificial Stone and Plaster company has commenced suit in the common pleas court against Otto Gallagher to recover a sum of money due on account.

Sent To Lancaster.

Elmer White, an exceedingly bright and interesting boy, aged 14 years, was sent to the Boys' Industrial school, at Lancaster, Saturday, by Probate Judge Brister.

The great trouble with the boy was that he would not go to school and had a tendency for wandering about the country.

Wills Probated.

The last will and testament of Jos. Griffith, late of this city, was admitted to probate.

The will of the late James Clark of Granville township, was admitted to probate and G. F. Clark was appointed executor without bond.

Reply Filed.

In the case of Etta Belle Price vs. Peter Sparks and others, Rolin R. McIntire, one of the defendants, has filed his reply to the answer of John S. Braddock. He admits that John S. Braddock and his wife conveyed to A. R. McIntire the real estate described in the petition; that Helen R. McIntire as executor, sold the real estate under orders of the Probate court of Knox county, to Alfred H. McIntire, who afterwards sold it to the answering defendant. He denies all the allegations not admitted to be true. He says that in February, 1905, without notice or any knowledge of any interest in the real estate claimed by John S. Braddock, he purchased it from Alfred H. McIntire for $900. He asks that the answer of John S. Braddock be dismissed and that the proceeds of the sale of the 13-28ths interest in the property be ordered to be paid him and for all other relief. Kibler & Montgomery and Rolin R. McIntire, attorneys for Rolin R. McIntire.

Motion Filed.

In the case of Elizabeth Oatman vs. Samuel Walker, the defendant, by her attorneys, James R. Fitzgibbon and Robbins Hunter, has filed a motion in which she asks the court to compel Elizabeth Oatman, one of the plaintiffs, to give security for costs. He says she is now and was at the time the suit was commenced, a non-resident of the county.

MASS MEETING

Of Sunday School Men Monday Evening at the Y. M. C. A. Building.

A meeting of all men engaged in Sunday school work is being arranged for Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. building. The purpose of the meeting is to consider methods of improving Sunday school work, particularly along the line of more efficient teaching. The failure of the Sunday school to hold the boys and young men is the difficulty which has prompted the meeting. Realizing that the problem of the Sunday school is largely a problem of teachers a plan will be considered for the organization of a normal class which will make a study of "the boy," and also study the practice and art of effective teaching.

Mr. Harry N. Clarke who has organized a large number of boys' and young men's classes in Cleveland, will be present to direct the conference. Both Sunday school teachers and those interested in the boy and young man problem are invited to be present. The meeting is called for 7:30 Monday night.

Skull Crushed.

Cure for Drunkenness

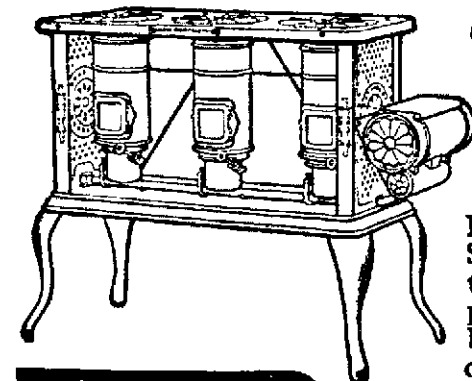

Orrine Treatment is to be Used at Home Without Publicity or Loss of Time From Business.

Thousands of persons who really want to quit the use of whiskey or beer, realize that they cannot do so without medical help, yet they can not afford the time or perhaps the money to go to a sanatorium. Happily a new cure for drunkenness has been discovered which is to be taken at home and costs less than the average drinker will spend in a day for drink.

In using Orrine there is absolutely no publicity, as the remedy is sold by the leading druggists in nearly every city and town, or it can be sent by mail. Sure relief is positive when Orrine is used. So uniformly successful is this treatment that in every box is a registered guarantee which entitles you to a refund of your money if Orrine fails to effect a cure. Orrine, is in two forms, No. 1, a secret remedy, absolutely tasteless, and odorless which can be given in food or drink without the patient's knowledge; No. 2 in pill form for those who wish to be cured. The price of either form is $1 a box. Send to the Orrine Co., Washington, D. C., for free booklet and consultation blank.

The desire for liquor is soon destroyed after Orrine treatment is commenced, and before long the patient is freed from the terrible drink craving, and the drink will not be missed.

Orrine is for sale by F. D. Hall, Newark, Ohio. 34

Clean Cooking

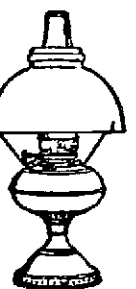

Wherever there's a New Perfection Oil Stove in the kitchen, there you will find the pots and pans clean and bright. The blue flame of the New Perfection is the cleanest flame produced by any stove, and is entirely free from smoke and soot. Another advantage of the

is that the heat is highly concentrated by enameled chimneys. This means quick results. The New Perfection is different from other oil stoves. Made in three sizes, with one, two and three burners. Every stove warranted. If not at your dealer's, write to our nearest agency for descriptive circular.

The Rayo Lamp is the best all-round household use. Equipped with the latest improved burner. Gives a bright, steady light at lowest cost. Made of brass throughout and beautifully nickelled. Suitable for any room, whether library, dining-room, parlor or bedroom. Safe and satisfactory. Every lamp warranted. Write to our nearest agency if not at your dealer's.

DECORATION DAY AT CROTON.

Croton, O., May 25.—Decoration Day will be observed by an audience at the Disciple church by W. A. Brundige of Columbus, and other exercises suited to the occasion. All comrades and others are requested to assemble at the Park at 9 o'clock sun time. All secret orders of the town and all school children of the vicinity are requested to join in the exercises and make it truly a memorial day.

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by F. D. Hall, druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

SECRET SOCIETIES

Odd Fellows.

The Odd Fellows Grand Lodge of Ohio in session at Steubenville, selected Put-in-Bay as the next place of meeting. The following officers of the grand lodge were installed: John L. Sullivan, St. Mary's, grand master;
Louis R. Houck, Mt. Vernon, deputy grand master; Frank L. Foster, Toledo, grand warden; L. E. Donn, Zanesville, trustee for three years;
E. W. Kite, Urbana, trustee to succeed Charles B. Burr of Columbus.

The annual report of the officers of the grand lodge I. O. O. F. of Ohio, has been issued for distribution during the annual session of the lodge which was held in Steubenville this week.

A number of interesting facts concerning the lodge and its strength in the Buckeye state may be seen by an inspection of the report of Grand Secretary C. H. Lyman. At the present time there are 752 lodges in the state, nine having been added during the past year. The total membership is $4,631. A gain of $947 was made during the year.

The cash receipts during 1906 were $758,920.61. The following disbursements were made: For relief $5771.25; for the education of orphans $1,530.07; for special relief
$27,993.82; for interment of dead, $40,569.98.

The total amount paid for relief was $246,945.50. The total amount paid out for current expenses was $111,485.22. The total assets at the end of the year was the sum of $2,666,471.09.

During the past year there have been three destructive fires which have destroyed buildings and property of lodges in the state. Charles Thomas lodge, No. 739 of Jacksonville, Athens county, was visited by a destructive fire on June 18th. On August 2, the hall of Kokoski lodge
No. 897 of Howard, Knox county, was burned to the ground. The third fire was that which destroyed the hall used by Overhulse lodge No. 839 of Malinta, Henry county, on April 3, 1907.

In the annual report, special mention is made of three lodges which have done splendid work during the past year, and have increased phe-nomenally in membership. They are Matamoros lodge No. 524 of New Matamoros, Washington county;
Salt Rock lodge, No. 882, of Morrel,
Marion county, and Endeavor lodge
No. 890 of Venedocia, Van Wert county.

In answer to the appeal for aid from stricken San Francisco there was a sum of $6,936.22 forwarded by the grand secretary from the grand lodge of Ohio.

The grand lodge of Ohio was instituted on January 2, 1832, and thus its diamond anniversary on the 83d of January of this year, being, at the present time, 75 years old.

United Commercial Travelers.

At the last meeting of the local chapter of the United Commercial Travelers, there was a good attendance of the members and considerable business of importance was transacted. Among the other business transacted it was decided to attend the state convention at Dayton, June 5, 6, 7, and 8, in a body. Resolving Past Counsellor Marion Long is the delegate to the convention and Past Counsellor F. L. Beggs is the alternate. It is expected that quite a large delegation from this city will attend the convention. Mr. W. P.
Miller, of Du Bois Council of Du Bois, Pa., was a visitor at the meeting held Saturday night.

Modern Woodmen.

Cedar Camp No. 4727, Modern Woodmen of America, met in regular session on Monday night with all officers and 67 of the membership present. Two applications for membership were received and balloted upon and elected to membership. The seven candidates were adopted as beneficial members. The work was put on in very good shape by the officers and team.

At the next meeting of the camp
there will be several candidates to be initiated and a good turn out of the members is desired.

District Deputy W. S. Brandriff is still in Marietta in the interests of Woodcraft.

Neighbors A. S. Mitchell, N. C.
Sherburne, R. R. Jones, E. C. Richardson and E. B. Pratt were appointed as a committee on Woodmen memorial day, which occurs the first Sunday in June, and all neighbors are requested to be at the next meeting of the camp as the arrangements for the memorial will be discussed.

A letter was read from Buckeye Camp No. 3224 of Zanesville inviting the officers and team of Cedar Camp down to help in the initiation of a big class of candidates on the night of May 21. Several of the members of Cedar Camp went to Zanesville and report that they adopted a class of 58 candidates into Buckeye Camp, and that all had a good time. Buckeye Camp is after the state banner,
and it is about time that Cedar Camp should put her shoulder to the wheel and adopt a class of 100 or more candidates or Buckeye Camp will get the state banner away from us.

Knights of Pythias.

At the meeting of Roland lodge No.
305, Knights of Pythias, held Thursday evening, the Esquire rank was conferred on six candidates. There will be work in the Page and Esquire ranks next Tuesday night.

The Knights of Pythias orders of Newark, have set aside Sunday, June 16, for their annual memorial day.

Masonic.

Monday night the Past and Most Excellent degrees were conferred on two candidates at a special meeting of Warren Chapter, No. 6, R. A. M. The Royal Arch will be conferred on a team next Monday night. After the work refreshments will be served.

Last Tuesday evening the Order of the Temple and the Order of Malta were conferred on four candidates at the meeting of St. Luke's Commandery, No. 34, Knights Templar.

At a special meeting of Acme Lodge, No. 554, F. & A. M., held on Thursday night the E. A. degree was conferred on a class of two. At the meeting to be held on next Thursday night, June 6, there will be work in the Master's degree.

Knights and Ladies of Security.

Golden Rod Council held a very interesting session on Friday night.
The check for the prize money from the National Council was received, and now Golden Rod Council is going after the first prize for the next contest, which will close August 1. Golden Rod Council holds the state prize banner for the largest increase in membership during the first three months of 1907. In order to stimulate efforts on the part of members to secure this prize, Golden Rod Council will reopen the charter and accept memberships on same basis
as they have in the past six months.
All members should get busy and try to build up Golden Rod Council to be one of the largest lodges in Newark.

Initiation at next meeting which will be held Friday night, May 31.

Labor Day.

Labor Day is a day set apart as a legal holiday in nearly all of the states and territories of the United States. In 1882 the Knights of Labor held their general assembly in New York city during the month of September, which on the 5th reviewed a great parade organized by the Central Labor Union of that city. The next year a parade was held on the first Monday in September, and in 1884, on the resolution of George R.
Lloyd, one of the Knights of Labor,
it was decided that all future parades should be held on that day, and that the day should be known as Labor Day. Workingmen's organizations all over the country then began an agitation to induce the state legislature to declare the day a legal holiday and on March 15, 1887, Colorado led the way to be quickly followed by
New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts. The great majority of the states have selected the first Monday in September as Labor Day. In 1903
the only states in which Labor Day was not a legal holiday, were Mississippi, Nevada, North Dakota and Louisiana.

Jeremias is well and favorably known by the fraternity of this city, as he has organized several degree teams in Newark. He was also captain of the team that secured first prize at St.

been successful in his work rendered on this occasion. The mock initiation will represent a lodge in Hashtown, and in looking over the comic character list of names (which is too large for publication) taking part in the play, will no doubt be very amusing and laughable to all present, so come prepared for a hearty side splitting laugh and grow fat. After the conclusion of the drill the floor will be cleared for those wishing to enjoy the remainder of the evening in dancing.
Good music, perfect order and a good time expected. Come early and secure good seats. A. T. U. hall, West Main

Foresters.

Court Licking No. 1318, I. O. F. held a very enjoyable meeting last evening at A. T. U. hall. In the absence of the chief ranger the meeting was presided over by the vice chief ranger, Brother G. H. Brown.

The officers elected at the last meeting were installed, Miss Sallie Keim as orator, Mrs. Ida Moser as chief ranger. The other usual business was transacted after which a report of the chairman of the committee of delegates to the high court meeting of Western Ohio, was read and accepted by the court.

A committee was appointed to give an entertainment at the next meeting of the court on Friday evening, June 14, at which all members of the I. O.
F. are earnestly requested to be present, and help to make it a success.

The following is a report of the committee of the high court meeting of Western Ohio, held at Columbus on May 21, 22 and 23, at which about 200 delegates were present from the courts of western Ohio.

WILLIE CUTE SAVED DIANA'S LIFE!

THE WORLD'S BEST SHORT FICTION

A PIRATE AND A PRINCESS—By F. Van Rensselaer Dey

CRADDOCK drew a deep breath and muttered something very much like an oath when he appeared upon the top of the rocky promontory and saw, peacefully at anchor, the beautiful craft seemingly sleeping upon the waters of the bay.

From where Craddock stood there was not visible another sign of life than the yacht itself. She might have dropped from the clouds or have risen out of the depths of the ocean, for when the sun went down she was not there; with the birth of a new day she appeared to have been there always.

While he looked, shading his eyes with his hands, a white-clad figure issued from the companionway, and after sweeping the face of the bluff with a glass, waved a cap to the man on the shore. The greeting was returned with manifest eagerness; and a moment later, as if invoked by some unknown magic, other figures appeared upon the deck of the vessel, the port davits were swung away, a boat was lowered, and the man with the binoculars leaped ashore—a Hercules in physique, a tawny-haired, tawny-bearded Thor in aspect, and stretching out both arms, seized Craddock's hands in a strong, relentless grasp.

"You received my letter, Craddock?" asked the yachtsman presently.

"Yes; more than a week ago."

"I may count upon you?"

Craddock shrugged his shoulders, but made no reply.

"Shall we go to your house, or—"

"No; not there," interrupted Craddock.

"To the yacht, then. You shall breakfast with me."

"I have sworn—"

"Don't you swear, Craddock! It is not going to sea to board the 'Carlotta.'"

"You have named her that?"

"Yes—but she bears a false name for the present. That you shall hear when we are alone in the cabin. Tamamos, amigo! All aboard! Ready, lads! Away with you! Egad, old fellow, doesn't this reanimate the dead corpses in your sluggish blood? What is there in that solitary life of yours to compare with this? There is a flush upon your cheeks already; the son of Neptune listens to the wind whistling in the shrouds and feels the breathing of the ocean's lungs. Here we are! Up with you, Craddock—up and in; but stop! Look forward, and then look aft. Experience once more the sensation of being a king, a monarch, an emperor, a god. Rest your nautical eye upon those sticks. Aren't they beautiful? Did you ever see a rake like that, even in the old days of wind-jamming? Look at that low, wide funnel. Compound, triple-expansion engines, Crad. Twin screws, everything the best; nothing that floats can catch her. Come!"

He seized his friend by one arm and led him to the cabin, and a moment later they sat facing each other, half buried in huge leather chairs, with a steaming pot of fragrant coffee between them.

For several moments the yachtsman silently regarded his friend, who was feasting his eyes upon a vision that he loved more dearly than all else in the world—the luxurious cabin of a perfectly appointed yacht.

"Do you like the picture?" he inquired presently. "Is there anything that can improve it? My fortune is here. My home is here. I shall never live ashore again. This yacht is my sweetheart, my wife, my world, unless—I! If she goes to the bottom, I go with her, with everything I possess. Now, Craddock, tell me—you are going with me on this cruise?"

"No."

"Crad!"

"I cannot go."

"Why?"

"It is piracy."

"Legally, you are correct," replied the yachtsman; "but by every moral law, human and divine, the cause is just, and honorable, and right."

"It is piracy, Ralph, no more, no less. Besides, I cannot go, anyhow."

The handsome face of the yachtsman became sullen.

"You did not read all my letter," he said, finally.

"I read it through to the end, many times."

"Then you know the fate of Carlotta if I do not carry out my purpose?"

"Yes."

"And you still refuse to go, even though, against her will, they will wed her to another?"

"I still refuse to go."

"Let me repeat the story in words. Letters are cold things at their best!"

"It is useless, Ralph. Was I not with you when you met this woman for whom you would now sacrifice so much? I warned you then. I have warned you since, I warn you again, now. If in making this sacrifice there existed one chance of success, heaven knows I would not hold you back from the enterprise. Even if the lifting of one little finger would accomplish it. But there is no chance of success—not one. There is nothing but death—dishonorable death, presumably at the end of a rope dangling from a yard-arm for you, and eternal disgrace for her."

Craddock rose from his chair. "Can nothing deter you from this step, old friend? Let us review it for a moment. We were boys together. We went to sea together. Together we made our fortunes at the very moment when the world seemed darkest. During twenty-seven years we were never apart, except for a few hours at a time. We were ten when we met, thirty-seven when we separated four years ago. Twenty years of toil, seven years of adventure, and four years of contemplative quiet surely should have brought us wisdom. If you saw me about to embark in an enterprise which you knew would end in my undoing, would you not endeavor to hold me back from it? Would you not refuse to enter upon it with me, even if I were differently situated from the way that I am now? Because it was your ill-fortune to save the life of a princess—the daughter of a king—is it logical that you should deliberately sacrifice your life and honor, and hers also, to the love that was born to both of you by that event? Where, if this Utopian scheme of yours should succeed to the point of capturing this vessel upon which she is to be a passenger—where, pray, do you propose to hide? Where, in all the wide world, will you find a haven where you dare even hope to escape capture? Aboard this yacht? The combined navies of the world will pursue you. There is no far corner of land or sea where you will be secure."

"You forget—"

"I do not forget—Empire Island—our island, where we were wrecked, and where we lived in solitude nearly three years—is 12,000 miles away. You could not sail one-tenth part of the distance without capture—and, besides, you cannot go there. Your oath to me binds you not to do so. We mutually agreed never to return to that spot, unless in company, or with the express permission of the absent one. I will not go with you, and I refuse the permission. You will not break your word to me; therefore you cannot go there, even if it were otherwise possible. Hush! You need not speak! I know that you are angry. Do not utter now words which you will regret later; but I would rather live the remainder of my life under the ban of your undiminished rage, than to relax one single effort that I can make to turn you aside from this awful venture that you contemplate. You are a madman to undertake it; you were mad when you conceived it; you will be hanged as a felon before you can half consummate it."

"And for what, and for whom do you undertake it?" Craddock continued. "For a woman whom you never saw but once in your life, in whose company you have passed less than five hours out of the forty-one years of your existence. For a woman who is related to every crowned head in Europe, whose portrait is familiar to every reader in the world, whose disappearance would arouse every human energy on earth and sea to effect her recapture and your destruction. You tell me in your letter that you have been planning this enterprise three years; if you had consumed 300 years in the work, it could offer no hope of success. She sails on the royal yacht on such a date, bound so-and-so; well, all the world knows that. If you pursue, and if perchance there is a storm, or an accident, or if God or the Devil intervenes in some inconceivable way, you will attack the yacht in the open sea, seize your prize, and sail away, confident that nothing that floats can outstrip you. What, in heaven's name, will the two cruisers which accompany the yacht be doing while this piratical outrage is going on? Eight and ten-inch shells travel faster than this floating palace of yours."

"Again, if neither God nor the Devil interferes to assist you, in this plan you believe that you will find your opportunity in the Mediterranean when the yacht is at anchor and the royal party is resting. Bah! Don't you know that the cruiser-conorts will lie either side of her, and aren't you sailor enough to know that you will have no more chance of getting within hail of the vessel you would attack, without being fired upon, than you would have of capturing the 'Oregon' in an open fight with this puny craft? Are you mad, Ralph? I know you are in earnest, but have you lost all reason?"

"Have you quite finished, Craddock?" asked the yachtsman calmly. He was smiling now.

"Yes," was the short reply.

"Shall I order breakfast served?"

"No. Send me ashore."

"Very good. But another question, first. Do you still refuse me permission to visit Empire Island without you?"

"Yes. I still refuse; now, and forever, unless you give up this enterprise."

"When you do give up this enterprise, will you state it for me? I may have forgotten the exact wording."

"The agreement was that neither of us should ever visit the island again, during the life of the other, except in each other's surmounting by a column of somber smoke, and beyond and behind it were three lesser columns issuing from the funnels of the cruiser-conorts. When the sun dipped out of sight the wind freshened, and then, with a puff, went out. Craddock played with his little daughter. Thor rested his bulk against the port davits and struggled with his beard—the only evidence of impatience he manifested.

"Neither God nor the Devil will intervene," he said at last, approaching Craddock. "I quote you, my friend, not my own thought; in the Mediterranean it will be different." Then he sought his cabin.

There is something uncanny in the dead calm of a Mediterranean night, when the elements are asleep, and earth and sky and ocean are in repose; when even the billows cease their restless undulations, and anchored craft lie inanimate. The royal yacht was one of these.

There was life upon her decks, however. Here and there a sailor leaned idly against the bulwark and gazed abstractedly off into the night. The watch paced its restless tread fore and aft and athwartships; but the watch was sleepy-eyed, and yawned company, or with the express permission of the absent one. It is clear enough."

"Quite so. Thank you. Will you not breakfast with me now?"

"No. I will go ashore. You need not accompany me to the deck. Shake hands, and let us part here."

"It is my turn to refuse, Craddock. When we meet again, if we ever do, I will offer you my hand. You may not feel disposed to take it. It is better, therefore, that you should leave it untouched now. I will go with you to the deck. I will not sail till some time in the night. If you change your mind, come off to me. To-morrow morning I will have gone."

Thor—we will call him so, after the Norwegian god he so greatly resembled—leaned idly against the taffrail and watched the figure of his departing friend until he had scaled the cliff and, with a last wave of his hand, disappeared beyond it.

"Too bad, Craddock," he murmured. "I cannot visit Empire Island without you; therefore I must take you with me. There is nothing in the promise which says that either may not take the other by force; ergo, you must accompany me. Craddock, my friend, we sail to-night—and we sail together."

The night was cloudy, and nine o'clock had just struck in the house where Craddock lived, when he heard a summons at the door. He sprang toward it quickly, believing that his friend had thought better of his mad venture. He threw it open. A dozen forms leaped into the wide hallway. He was seized, and in a moment bound; and all the while Thor stood, with folded arms, idly leaning against one of the pillars of the portico.

"I cannot force permission from you, Craddock," he said, when the deed was done, "but I can compel you to accompany me. Is there anything that you would have me do before we go aboard?"

"Yes. My motherless child and the nurse must accompany me."

Two hours later the yacht had sailed.

Craddock imperceptibly resigned himself to the inevitable. The voyage across the ocean was uneventful. The yacht slipped through the English Channel into the North Sea, and glided rapidly onward toward her first anchorage, which must not be named; and there came a day, approximately two weeks after the American coast was lost to view, when she glided to her moorings not three cable-lengths from the royal craft upon which the princess was soon to embark. Thor's great stature seemed taller than ever then. His eyes shone brighter and with greater steadiness. He placed no guard whatever upon the actions of his friend, but two sailors were ever at the side of Craddock's child and nurse when they loitered upon the deck. Craddock, watching him furtively, wondered if he contemplated making the assault there, in the presence of the fleet and with the narrow neck of water between two forts bristling with guns as the only avenue of escape. Such an attempt on the part of Thor would not have surprised him.

But the Titan made no sign, and on the fifth day after their arrival they put to sea again, Craddock, he said, in one of those expeditions often held, wherein the American listened without comment, and the Norwegian talked without compensation. "The royal party sails at dawn to-morrow. We will precede them through the channel and down the coast; and then—what then, amigo! Quien sabe? Shall I put you ashore, my friend, or will you see it out, now that you are embarked?"

"Did you see her, Crad?" he asked later. "Did you see her when she went aboard with her suite? High heaven, what beauty! What majesty! What infinite tenderness and love! Ah! If you had been with me on the quay! If you could have seen the start of surprise that she gave when she saw me—the roses that bloomed all in an instant upon her cheeks. The flush, the smile, the frown, the pathetic entreaty, the defiance, the undying love, the unalterable resolve. I made no sign. She made none; but her heart is beating now just as mine beats—like the piston in the high-pressure cylinder below, with terrific force, but steady and true—steady and true, Crad; never quickening or lessening a beat, never increasing or diminishing its force; steady and true, Crad; steady and true!"

Two hundred and thirty knots, or thereabouts, off that part of earth where the Bay of Biscay eats into the coast of France, coursed Thor's masterpiece of mechanism. Off to starboard, thirteen miles away, the sun dipped moodily, half veiled in cloud. On the port quarter, six miles astern, was a white line as he walked, for the duty was one simply of routine. Abeam, on either side, floated two of the cruiser-conorts; dead astern rested the third; sluggish, yawning, half sleeping, all of them. Beneath the awning, half in repose, yet keenly alert to every beauty of the night, flanked by maids and guarded by marines, though in utter solitude, reclined the Princess whom we have called Carlotta.

Of the royal party she alone remained upon the yacht. Why she could not have explained, except that the night appealed to her in a new way; and for some unaccountable reason her mind was upon the Titan form and tawny-bearded face of her rescuer of long ago. Her glance swung lazily to seaward, where a green light hung motionless over the waters of the bay, and then turned shoreward again toward the point where her friends had disappeared. A haze, unlike mist but still a haze, mellowed the softness of the night. Repose, solitude, peace, memory, were in the air she breathed.

Then, out of the haze, at the point upon which her eyes were fixed, leaped a shape, and the heart of the Princess bounded, paused, fluttered, and again began its ceaseless counting of the periods in her life, for with the looming of the shape out of the haze had come a yodel-song, sharp and clear and strong. A cry heard once, never to be forgotten; a cry which she had heard but once, never to forget. She did not move. Her maids still whispered together. The marines remained deaf.

The shape was the launch that had conveyed her friends ashore. It flew the pennant of its royal owner. It approached unchallenged. There was a sharp command from amidships on the yacht. The deck swarmed with men. The boom was manned. The steps were lowered. Officers stood at attention. Marines lined up, presented arms, and fixed their eyes upon nothing. The launch had returned; what mattered it whom it brought?

One form only leapt to the deck; like majesty was in his demeanor. It was Thor, grand in his daring, and smiling with that half-frown of definite purpose.

The Princess rose from her chair calmly and with deliberation. A quiet word, spoken in an undertone, relegated her attendants to a distance. Half-way along the promenade she encountered her guest, and there she paused with extended hand, while he dropped upon one knee, and tenderly clasping the hand in both of his own, pressed it to his lips.

He would have spoken, but she silenced him by a gesture, and so they remained for seconds which seemed hours to both. Then she spoke.

"You have dared to come to me, past all barriers," she said, tremulously. "I cannot say that I am not glad. Do not speak. I must not hear the sound of your voice. My destiny was shaped when the world was young; defiance cannot alter it. You have dared all things for the sake of seeing me again—that I might see you once more. I must ask even greater courage of you now. Leave me, my friend, with everything that you would say unspoken. I must not listen—but I know. We may not mention love—but afterward, afterward, when this earthly destiny is fulfilled, then, my friend, I will seek you as you have sought me now. Rise, and go, lest my strength should fail me in this supreme moment. God be with you! Rise; do not speak by your love for me, by my love for you, leave me! Do not look back. I beseech—no, I command! Leave me! My spirit will accompany you. My body—it is nothing—it must remain here. Afterward—yonder—in the life to come—I will seek for you! For the love of God, leave me!"

Upon the palm of her hand he pressed his lips, and then, without a word, he left the deck, dropped into the launch, and disappeared in the haze.

The Pillars of Hercules were dipping into the ocean far astern when Thor sought his friend on the after deck of the yacht "Carlotta." It was during the middle watch of the succeeding day.

"The enterprise is abandoned, Craddock," he said, calmly; "will you take my hand now?"

"Gladly, Ralph; in full forgiveness, too."

Thor seemed not to hear, but continued, dreamily:

"There is little that I can tell you. With my men I seized the launch and boarded the yacht. She was there. I saw her. She gave me her commands and a promise. I obeyed, and I wait. That is all. Shall we go to Empire Island now, and rest?"

"If you wish it, yes."

By Special Messenger By Waring Mitchell

On that certain Tuesday morning, when Col. Graves got ready to start for the city from his country place, he said to his daughter, Winnie:

"It is possible that I may want those Mexican bonds this afternoon, and here is the key of the safe. If I have to have them I will send you a note by a special messenger."

The colonel was something of a lawyer, a speculator and broker, and Miss Winnie was his 19-year-old daughter. She acted as his amanuensis at home and was pretty familiar with his business transactions. The bonds spoken of had a face value of $20,000, but of late had been rather "wobbly" in the market and had caused the colonel considerable anxiety. At 1 o'clock that afternoon he wanted the bonds and telephoned his daughter to that effect, saying that he would send a messenger.

Instead of sending a boy from the regular service he stepped into the office of Jones next door and said:

"Jones, I want a trusty fellow to run out to my house and bring me back some bonds. Haven't I noticed a young man around here?"

"Yes. He's a nephew of mine. He's out now, but write a line and I'll send him when he returns. He ought to go out to East Park and back in an hour."

The colonel wrote a line to Miss Winnie to deliver the bonds to bearer and then went out on "the street" on business. Fifteen minutes later Jones' nephew was making for the Grand Central station as fast as the express in the subway would carry him.

Jones hadn't given the young man's biography, but it may be stated that his name was Vincent Gray, his age 22, and he was in the office of his uncle to learn the devious ways of Wall street before setting up in business for himself on the comfortable fortune left him by a deceased aunt. For a young man who expected to come in contact with bulls and bears and other animals, young Gray was very trustful of human nature. For instance, while his train was speeding along underneath the streets and he was hanging to a strap and thinking of things financial, a young man with ambitions leaned against him and picked his pocket without exciting the least suspicion.

The light fingered youth found there only a card case and the letter to Miss Winnie, but they were sufficient to bring about several unlooked for results. He passed into another car and opened and read the letter and he saw the golden opportunity he had been long looking for. In the card case were two or three dollar bills. The thief had a right to infer that his victim had no more money about him. He likewise had a right to infer that young Gray could not produce the wherewithal to buy a ticket for East Park. The fare was only 20 cents, but without it a man is a badly off as if the sum was $5.

There was a train ready to leave. The thief bought his ticket and got aboard. Vincent Gray stood at the ticket window and fussed and fumbled and was left. His card case and money were gone and when he found that the letter had also taken wings he realized that he was in trouble. He hadn't even a nickel to get back to the office. He hadn't the wherewithal to telephone to his uncle Jones in New street and after wasting 15 minutes trying to figure out the problem he made haste to a pawn shop, where he put down his watch for $5.

The next train to East Park was ten minutes late in starting, and the same in reaching the Park, so there was in all 50 minutes lost. The young man had not suspected that he was the victim of a pickpocket, but supposed he had lost his property in the jam while boarding the car. He had been told that a telephone message would precede him, and he had remembered the address. Therefore, he did not worry so much over the loss of the letter. It was only when he came face to face with Winnie Graves and stated his errand, saw her look of surprise and distrust, that he realized the situation.

"Winnie," she replied, "those bonds were delivered to a messenger more than half an hour ago."

"But I was sent for them and was delayed."

"If you were sent for them, you must have a line from my father."

"I—I had a line, but unfortunately I lost it, together with my money. My name is Vincent Gray, and I am in the office of Erza Jones, in the same building with your father. I am afraid that some rascal found the lost letter and has taken advantage of it."

"And I am afraid that another messenger is trying to do the same thing," exclaimed Miss Winnie's Aunt Ruth, who was at the head of the house, and who had entered the library just in time to hear the young man's words.

"But, madam, you surely can't think that I—"

"I can think what I please, sir. Can you imagine we were idiotic enough to give up those bonds without a written order from Col. Graves?"

"But whoever presented that order was an impostor."

"Perhaps so, and perhaps it is the impostor who is here now. Winnie go to the telephone and ask your father the name of the messenger he sent. He wouldn't have sent Tom, Dick or Harry on such an important errand. Young man, sit down here until we find out the truth of this matter."

The girl went to the telephone and the young man sat down with visions of policemen and prison bars passing before his eyes. The aunt took a seat directly in front of him and stared at him in a cold cruel way—a way that gave him to understand that she would let no guilty man escape. After three or four minutes Winnie returned to the room to say:

"That's always the way. Central tells me that the line into the city is crossed, or something, and it may be an hour or more before they find out the trouble and remedy it."

"Then I will go back and tell your father the situation," said Mr. Gray. "Some sharper has the bonds and the police should be notified at once."

"You will sit right here until that telephone wire 'is in working order'!" announced Aunt Ruth. "There are men about the place, and we have dogs and guns, and if you try to run away it will be the worse for you. Winnie, notify the coachman that we have a suspicious character in the house."

"She needn't do anything of the sort. I will sit here until you have solved the mystery. I am to blame for losing the letter, but if the bonds are not recovered it will not be my fault."

"He doesn't look like a suspicious person," whispered Winnie to her aunt, but in tones loud enough so that he caught the words and turned red again.

"He may not to you, but can't tell a robber from a church deacon. But he does to me, and here he shall stay until we know all about it. You sit down in the hall and wait for the telephone and I'll keep him under my eyes."

Aunt Ruth leaned back in her chair, folded her arms, compressed her lips and fastened her eyes on Mr. Gray, and had he been a bunco man of ten years' standing he must have been disconcerted. As it was, he coughed and blushed and hunched around and crossed and recrossed his legs. When the aunt broke the silence it was to impart no cheerful information. What she said was:

"It makes you squirm to realize that you've reached the end of your rope at last, but you'll squirm more still when the judge pronounces sentence. While I pity your poor mother, I hope you'll get at least ten years."

Mr. Gray made no reply. He couldn't find words. About every ten minutes for the next hour he received a brief, vigorous lecture until he was almost worked up to the point where he thought of jumping through a window and taking his chances when a man's step was heard. There was an "Oh, papa!" from Miss Winnie in the hall, and Col. Graves stalked in to exclaim:

"What in the devil is the matter here?"

"There he sits!" replied Aunt Ruth, as she pointed to the culprit.

It took about ten minutes to unravel things—that is, to establish Vincent Gray's identity. Fortunately, by this time the telephone was working, and fortunately Mr. Jones was in his office. It took five minutes more to discover that Winnie had given the false messenger Honduras instead of Mexican bonds, and that the colonel was simply relieved of some waste paper.

When it came to apologies and inviting Mr. Gray to forgive and forget and stay to dinner, perhaps a full quarter of an hour was consumed, but it is not on record that Mr. Gray regarded the time as thrown away.

Now, when the colonel smiles and throws out hints at his prospective son-in-law Miss Winnie blushes and protests, Aunt Ruth assumes one of her sweetest looks and says:

"I don't say I shall leave when he becomes one of the family, but I do say that I shall always lock up my jewelry when I go to bed and lock and bolt the door!"

The Greatest Crowd in the World

"A crowd collected." "The crowd was large."

In all likelihood you will run across these statements quite a number of times in your favorite newspaper from now on, for warm weather is pretty certain to bring crowds in its train. It is crowd weather par excellence. The greatest crowd that ever collected is that one which comes together once every twelve years at the festival of Kumbh Mela, at Allahabad, India.

It is a religious affair, this bathing festival, and it is estimated that not less than a million Hindus form the crowd that comes from all over India to bathe at the juncture of three rivers—the Ganges, the Jumna and the Saraswati. Do not be disappointed if you are not able to locate the last named stream on your map of India. Only a Hindu fanatic can see this river joining with the other two. It exists only in the figments of superheated religious imagination.

It is proper to take a dip in the Ganges at all times, for the river is sacred day in and day out. But every twelve years one's sins are to be washed away by a plunge into the water where the three rivers join, hence the crowd that undoubtedly holds the world's record for size.

It doubtless also holds the record for picturesqueness, noises, fanaticism of a religious character and types.

On every side are to be seen religious fakirs smeared with ashes, others doing penance for their sins on beds of sharpened spikes, while still others torture themselves in the numerous ways characteristic of the Hindu fanatic. Turbanned caterers to the wants of the inner man are plentifully sprinkled about, bargains are driven at the edge of the sacred waters, and the noises of traffic mingle with the groans of penitents, the shouts of bands marching to the bathing, the shuffle of hundreds of thousands of moving bare and sandal-covered feet. There are thousands of sightseers, of course, many being travelers attracted to the spot through desire to get a view of a million people, which is possible from the roofs of buildings not very far distant.

India is, indeed, the land of big crowds.

New York reads with wonder, the morning after an important election, of the jam the night before along certain parts of Broadway and in Newspaper Row. Chicago is openly proud of the pushing crowds that surge in its State and other central streets on special occasions. They are remarkably large crowds—for America. But they would not secure even passing comment in Northern India. There the streets of the cities are jammed from house line to house line from early morning till late at night in the mere transaction of the day's work. A view of one of these every-day crowds going about its business cannot fail to inspire one with feeling of awe at thought of the vast, compact population which makes such crowds common.

Northern India's real crowds collect on the festival days. Then, in the words of an English officer who has grown weary of trying to convey some idea of the size of these crowds, "they are monumentally enormous."

CONSULTING HOME DRESSMAKER'S BUREAU

Monthly Fashion Hints

THE beautiful assortment of materials now being shown furnishes the opportunity for making the daintiest of summer waists and over-blouses, and the designers still continue to furnish the most bewitching and most irresistible of models.

One of the prettiest as well as the newest is known as the Marie Antoinette. It takes its name from the trimming of pleated frills, so dear to the heart of that ill-fated French queen. A blouse of this kind can be prettily developed in the cotton or light-weight woollens. As shown in the illustration, it was made of natural colored pongee trimmed with frills of brown taffeta. Three yards of 36-inch material will be required for the making. Over-blouse effects are among the smartest of the season's modes. No. 5711 is an exceedingly stylish model and has the added charm of originality. Wide tucks at the shoulder give the broad effect so essential to present styles. Peau de soie in a rich shade of green was used in the development, a finishing touch being given by green velvet buttons.

No. 5706 is another excellent design that would be exquisite made up in the rich plaid taffetas, or dainty colored linens. These blouses are to be worn over a sheer white gumpie or lingerie slip or under blouse; 2 1/2 yards of 27-inch material will be needed.

A particularly stylish model is shown in 5713. Deep tucks in front give the wide shoulder effect, and a turn-over collar completes the neck. The modish elbow sleeves are prettily finished by flaring cuffs. Any of the season's waistings are adaptable for making. For 36-inch bust measure 3 yards of material 36 inches wide will be required.

Skirts are decidedly longer than they were last season. A graceful sweep adds effectively to the stylish model here shown. It is cut in circular style, the upper edge mounted on a high Empire belt. If the shortened waistline is not desired, the pattern also provides for finishing in regulation style. The use of the strapped bodice on the lower edge is a matter of individual taste, as provision is made for cutting in short, round length, in which case no trimming is required. For 26-inch waist measure, 7 1/4 yards of 44-inch material will be required. The five-gore models made with full gathered flounce, promise to be very popular this season, especially for the thin tulle and lace materials. The one shown in the illustration has the fashionable close hip adjustment, while the lower edge flares in prevailing style; 8 1/4 yards of 44-inch material will be required.

Even for children the fashion shows an inclination toward the Princess model. Nothing prettier could be imagined than the charmingly quaint little frock No. 5689. The design shows a dainty development of nanook and all-over embroidery. Dimity and linen are also available for reproduction. For a child of 3 years, 3 yards of 36-inch material will be required. Another attractive little dress is shown in 5682. It is a practical little model admitting of several variations. The long sleeves may be omitted and the neck cut out, thus making a dainty little dress to wear with different gumpies. Challis, gingham and linen are all adapted to the design. Three yards of material 36 inches wide will be required for a girl of 8 years. Among the styles for the small boy, the Russian blouse holds first place. The one here shown is distinguished by a broad sailor collar that extends to the lower edge of the dress, or it may terminate at the waist-line. Little knickerbockers are worn underneath and are included in the pattern. Three yards of 44-inch material will be required for a child of 5 years.

No. 5789. Ladies' Shirt Waist. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

No. 5707. Ladies' Blouse, to be tucked or gathered and in high or low neck. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

No. 5711. Ladies' Over-Blouse. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

No. 5706. Ladies' Blouse. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

No. 5713. Ladies' Shirt Waist. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

No. 5785. Ladies' Circular Skirt, in plain or slashed effect, and in sweep or round length. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

No. 5720. Ladies' Five Gored Skirt, with or without a flounce. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

No. 5788. Ladies' Five Gored Petticoat. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

No. 5679. Ladies' Apron. Sizes, small, medium, large.

No. 5689. Child's Princess Dress. Sizes for 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

No. 5705. Little Boy's Suit, with sailor collar extending to the lower edge or to the waistline. Sizes for 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years. Any one of these patterns will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents in money or stamps by Marjorie Dane, 44 East Twenty-third Street, New York City.

Answers to Correspondents

Dear Miss Dane: I have a dress pattern like enclosed sample, and think it will make quite a serviceable dress for spring and fall. I want a skirt and some sort of a jacket. What would you advise? What style jacket and what, if anything, shall I trim it with? What kind of waists can I wear with it? My mother, aged 76, lives with us; she is about my height and fleshy, waist 33 1/2 and bust 42. I have some black goods that I think is waterproof and would do for a wrap for her. How shall I make it? My bust is 38, waist 28, hips 44, height 5 feet 6 inches. Have I a proportionate figure?—F. W.

Your figure is exceedingly well proportioned, and the goods of the pepper and salt sample will make up into a very smart suit. Have a pleated skirt, the pleats taking any form you please, and the bottom trimmed with self-folds or with rows of braid-black. The coat I should have in cutaway style, closing with one or three buttons over the bust, a waistcoat of white piece being made separate and buttoned in as required. The sleeves coat shaped and the cuffs for these as well as for facing the collar to be of black silk.

Any waist you prefer may be worn with this suit, its tones being strictly neutral. The wrap will become the wearer made in box style, but with a double box pleat down center back and the same effect in front. The pleat may be stitched down to the waist line, then allowed to flare. The bottom will be hemmed, the length to be half or three-quarters. The sleeves should be quite full and be confined with cuffs of handsome passementerie, the same trimming forming the finish too.

GIRLS AND BOYS

The First Weather Bureau and How It Was Started

In the very very Long Ago, when the Head Apprentice was rigging up the Earth with the necessities and getting her ready to start housekeeping, he found it necessary to have some appliance for keeping things moving. There could be no progress without some kind of a stir-up occasionally.

So he went up into the garret of the Universe, and poked around in the stores, and tucked off in an out-of-the-way corner he found a small and insignificant Wind.

"Aha!" he said, as he put it in his vest pocket and fastened down the flap, "here is the very thing. Now, back to the Earth, and we'll have this adjusted in no time."

The truth is that the Head Apprentice had had very little experience with winds and he didn't know what was in store for him. The little Wind began to grow from the first minute of its release from the stuffy old garret. By the time they were one-quarter of the way back to the Earth, it was altogether too big for the vest pocket or any other pocket. Finally the Head Apprentice had to take off his coat and tie the Wind up in it with hard knots, and even then some of it squeezed out through the arm-holes.

He had an awful time landing, for by the time he reached the Earth the Wind had turned his coat into a balloon. He managed after a while to clutch hold of a mountain peak as he sailed over it, and finally got both feet on the ground. He proceeded immediately to fasten the Wind up in a cave, and then sat down to consider things.

How to fit the Wind to the Earth was the first problem that stared the Head Apprentice in the face, and how to make it work properly was the second. He pondered deeply for about a year without stirring, and all that time the Wind was growing in size and temper.

At last he hit upon a plan. He would attach the Wind to a wheel and reel it off and on with a windlass. So he rigged up a great machine, fastened the Wind on firmly, and then paid the line out slowly till it stretched clear around the Earth. Everything seemed to go smoothly, and for a while nobody found any fault. Little men set out in their little ships across the sea, sailing with the Wind, and away they went.

All they had to do was to set their sails, tie down the ropes and go to sleep till they were on the other side of the ocean. But the trouble came when they wanted to get back home again, for the wind blew always one way, and it was impossible to tack against that steady rush of wind and current.

People on shore began to have trouble, too. Those living on one side of the ocean saw the water all blowing away from them, leaving bare stretches of seaweed and mud, and there was no tide to cover them again. On the other side the water banked up and flooded their homes, so that they had to flee to the mountains for their lives.

The trees became one-sided and leaned with the Wind, and the whole landscape had the appearance of wanting to rush off somewhere.

The Head Apprentice saw plainly that this state of things would not do. So he reeled the Wind back again. There were some pieces of it, however, that were broken off, and they settled in the warm countries and became Trade Winds.

The Head Apprentice now decided to break off pieces of the Wind, and sow them around broadcast; but he found himself up against a series of fresh disasters. Every handful of Wind turned into a whirlwind, and tore things up right and left. People and animals cried for mercy. So that method had to be stopped.

He had an awful time landing.

Next he made a great air gun, and tried shooting chunks of Wind out in various directions. This made more trouble than ever, for they turned into hurricanes and blew everything flat. It took the Head Apprentice years to get his forests reconstructed after a hurricane had swept over them, and there was a mighty lot of work for the little men, too, getting their homes rebuilt.

Well, you may imagine that by this time the Head Apprentice was pretty well discouraged. He just about gave up trying to have any Wind on the Earth. As soon as he was a bit rested he started gathering up the pieces that were blowing about. Every one he could get hold of he put in a great jug.

"There," he said, "you won't do any more mischief. I clapped a bung into the mouth of the jug, and then sat down to think what he could use for a substitute.

blinded the eyes of the Head Apprentice like a streak of lightning, and the deafening roar was the first clap of thunder ever heard on Earth. The Wind went flying in every direction.

At the sight, the nerves of the Head Apprentice gave way and he burst into a torrent of tears, which fell and deluged the land for miles around.

"A cloud has burst!" cried the little men, and they all rushed indoors till the storm should pass over.

"I will never give up, never!" said the Head Apprentice, gritting his teeth.

Then he went to work and wove miles and miles and miles of strong cord, so strong that it could never break nor wear out. Then once more he gathered up the pieces of Wind. By this time you may imagine it was pretty well broken up. But he persevered with a dogged determination, and after a while he succeeded in putting the bits into the cave where lay the thousands upon thousands of miles of cord he had woven. To each piece of Wind he attached a long cord so it could fly and yet he pulled in like a kite at his will.

Then he divided the pieces of Wind into four bunches. One bunch he tied to the North Pole, another to the South Pole, and the two others he attached to sunken rocks in the middle of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Then he sat down at the highest mountain peak and laughed to see the success of his last effort.

The pieces of Wind, big and little, floated out on the ends of their tethers, here, there, everywhere, north, south, east and west, gentle or fierce, according to their size. They laughed in the ears of the tame birds, they rushed headlong over the glaciers, they swept across the vast expanses of the polar ice fields, they swept the streets of the cities built by the little men, they filled the sails of ships and windmills, they sweetened and freshened the whole Earth.

And the Head Apprentice was glad, for he had every Wind under his thumb (barring a few that have never been accounted for).

And that was the beginning of the First Weather Bureau.

TOMMY'S AGE

Tommy's father brought a business friend home for dinner. While they were waiting for the meal to be announced, the visitor took Tommy upon his knee, patted his head, ruffled his hair, and called him "fat."

Tommy, who had rather liked the visitor with his round, fat, jolly face.

"Now, Tommy," said the visitor, "I'd like to know you be if you're right fat?"

Tommy never thought about this question before. He was 10 years old, but he couldn't see how being fat would make him any other.

He sat still and thought deeply. At last he looked up and said, "How old are you?"

"Well," said the visitor, "we'll say that I am 47 years old." "Well, you're right fat, aren't you?" asked Tommy. "I suppose I am," answered the visitor. "People seem to think so."

"Well, then," said Tommy solemnly, "if I were right fat, I s'pose I'd be 47 years old."

The visitor laughed loudly and said that Tommy was a very bright boy.

Books for the Laughter-Loving

McClure's Little Comic Masterpieces are tonics in healthful doses. Read them, laugh and be happy.

"Pigs is Pigs"

By ELLIS PARKER BUTLER

Fully 120,000 copies of this famous masterpiece of humor have already been sold, which means that a million Americans have enjoyed at least one long laugh this past year. "It's the funniest yarn since Mark Twain's 'Jumping Frog,'" writes John Kendrick Bangs. Don't miss this irresistibly funny story.

Illustrated by Will Crawford. 50c. postpaid.

The Great American Pie Company

By ELLIS PARKER BUTLER

The million Americans who chortled over "Pigs is Pigs" are going to accord its deserving little successor the same rousing reception. Eph. Deacon's and Phineas Doolittle's plan for cornering the supply of the luscious American product, is as excruciatingly funny as Mike Flannery's famous predicament.

Illustrated by Frederick Dore Steele. 50c. postpaid.

A Good Samaritan

By MARY R. S. ANDREWS

Do you read McClure's? Then you may realize what it means when we call this probably the best short story that ever appeared in the magazine. That's why it was rescued from ephemeral publication and put into a book. It is a rattling tale of a genial youth on a spree and a young parson who helped him home.

Illustrated by Charlotte Harding. 50c. postpaid.

The Pets

By HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

Our good friend, Red Saunders, domesticates a bull-snake, a hawk and a wildcat, and then introduces an outside element into the happy family; namely, the bulldog. The resulting scrap and readjustment of things will make you weep tears of laughter.

Illustrated by A. B. Frost. 50c. postpaid.

Breezy

By J. GEORGE FREDERICK

Here is a story that should be placed in the hands of every youth in the country, and particularly every young man who expects to enter business life. Breezy is an example of enthusiasm and energy, vitality and enterprise. He is a veritable inspiration to young America.

Illustrated by W. D. Stevens. 50c. postpaid.

SENSIBLE RAIMENT for BOYS and GIRLS

THE attractiveness of frocks for children should be rather in the fine quality of the fabric and in the exquisite needlework, rather than in intricate and much elaboration. Lingerie effects seem to reign supreme in children's fashions and anything attractive along that line is sure to receive consideration. Simplicity, however, is not always characteristic of the lingerie frock, as it must be more or less elaborate with fine needlework if it is to have an up-to-date air in this season of extravagance in trimming effects. A touch of hand-work gives a distinction that nothing else will, and is seen on every variety of material from the sheerest wash fabric to the heavier piques and linens. The beautiful embroidered flouncing is used for the skirt, either in single or double skirt effect and tucks, feather-stitching and fagoting as well as other fancy stitches are all unsparingly employed in the making. Although white seems the most natural thing to select at this season of the year, still there is a strong showing of organdy, lawn and dimity with tiny flower sprays and single blossoms such as rosebuds or some other fine flower, scattered over the surface.

The little dress here illustrated in India linen can be worn on almost any occasion, but is especially suitable for evening parties. The full front and backs are arranged over a fitted body lining which may be omitted if desired, and the patterns provide either full length or elbow sleeves. A circular bertha falls over the sleeves and is an attractive feature of the mode. Lawn, dimity and China silk are all appropriate for the making, and Valenciennes lace and insertion could be effectively used in the trimming. For a girl of eight years, $3\frac{1}{4}$ yards of 36-inch material. Girls' Party Dress. No. 5710. Sizes for 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

The pretty washable materials are ideal for making up everyday dresses, especially the stylish Scotch and French ginghams. The one here illustrated in plain gingham is particularly becoming to the slender figure, as the broad bretelles that extend out over the sleeves tend to give breadth to the shoulders. These bretelles are slashed in prevailing fashion and strapped across with bands of the material, or they may be made perfectly plain, if desired. The waist closes in the back and is mounted on a fitted lining. The sleeves are in elbow length, completed by turned-back cuffs. The full-straight skirt is simply hemmed at the lower edge and gathered and attached to the waist.

Girls' Dress. No. 5777. Sizes for 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Among styles for the small boy the Russian blouse holds first place. A pretty model has fronts that cross surplice fashion and a broad one-piece collar and reverses that extends the entire length of the garment, narrowing to about a two-inch width at the lower edge of the skirt. Or it may terminate at the waist-line, as the pattern provides for either style. The blouse is worn with little knickerbockers underneath and closes invisibly on the right side. French flannel, cheviot, broadcloth, serge, pique and gingham are all desirable for reproduction. For a child of five years, three yards of 44-inch material will be required.

Little Boy's Suit with sailor collar extending to the lower edge or to the waist. No. 5705. Sizes for 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years. Another picturesque frock is shown for the little man in a development of striped gingham. The front closes diagonally and is secured at the waist with a leather belt. A large collar gives jauntiness to the costume. A removable shield with narrow standing collar completes the neck. Little trousers are worn underneath and are included in the pattern, which will be found quite simple and easy to follow. For summer wear, linen, pique and duck are the preferred materials, as they are firm of texture. They may be white or colored, plain or figured. Any of the washable materials would be equally suitable for a frock of this kind, also flannel and light-weight cloth. For a child of four years, $1\frac{1}{4}$ yards of 54-inch material will be required.

Little Boy's Blouse Suit. No. 5729. Sizes for 2, 4 and 6 years. The patterns will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents for each. Address Marjorie Dane, 44 East Twenty-third Street, New York City.
